

MEMOIR: Home Learning Week One – March 16-20

While we're away from school this week, we will work on our reading assessments. If you have questions, I will do my best to be available. I encourage you to pace your work in a way that allows you to do your best thinking, but I have also provided a suggested schedule for completing your assessment in manageable chunks. Do your work, wash your hands, and be well. 😊

COMMUNICATION:

I will be giving you feedback on a rolling basis.

If you have a question, I will be checking email each day. – mmcgillicuddy@theparkerschool.org

OUTPUTS:

- ✓ CLAIM
- ✓ PASSAGES (4-6)
- ✓ OUTLINE (including introduction, claim, final synthesis)
- ✓ READING ASSESSMENT – SWAY – DUE DATE: MONDAY, MARCH 23 at 8am

SUBMITTING WORK:

You will find a folder in OneNote called "Home Learning Week of March 16." All work should be submitted in OneNote.

In it, you will find the pages to submit the following:

- Claim
- Passages
- Outline
- Reading Assessment

I will be providing feedback in a rolling manner as you complete your tasks. Please check your work for comments.

SUGGESTED TIMELINE:

March 16 – Claim + play with Sway
March 17 – Select Passages
March 18 – Outline
March 19-20 – Analysis
March 21-22 – Continue analysis / proofread
March 23 8am – Submit Sway

RESOURCES:

In the "Home Learning Week of March 16" folder, you will also find a few resources.

- ✓ The overview of the assessment (you have a hard copy too)
- ✓ A sample Sway by me
- ✓ Samples of collaborative class work that captures group thinking
